

HAMBURG & BACH PETITE BABY GRAND FEATURES & DESIGN DETAILS

"To build a great piano you must first believe that you will not compromise any aspect of the instrument."

The philosophy of the maker must only focus on performance without any concern for cost. With this commitment in place, the maker must strive to achieve perfection in design, not only using all of the technology developed over the last 300 years of piano making, but also utilizing today's technology through super computer imaging and modeling. After the design is completed, then only the very best materials available worldwide are selected.
